

TAZ & SARAH

Smooching in the park

Ski trip to Vernon - so fun!

Hello!

Thank you for taking the time to read our story and the dreams we have for our family.

Taz has always imagined adoption as the way to build his future family, and his enthusiasm for it is one of the many factors that won Sarah's heart. We are incredibly excited to become parents, and our families can hardly wait to welcome a new child!

About us

We met while volunteering at a film festival in 2013, which led to Sarah pursuing Taz and our marriage in 2017.

As younger adults, we were lucky enough to travel & work in developing countries. These life-changing experiences shaped our values and made us more compassionate people.

While we are sometimes opposites (Taz is a free-spirited risk-taker and Sarah tends to be more practical), we appreciate our differences and think that together we will make an amazing parenting team.

Our home

Our lifestyle

We live in a large waterfront house in a family-oriented neighbourhood of Victoria. We like kayaking, cycling, playing tennis, spending time with family & friends, and attending local events like comedy shows, festivals and live music.

Openness

Our hope is that our child will have the chance to know where they come from. That said, we respect your choice regarding what level of openness you are comfortable with and look forward to discussing this together.

Thank you!

We thank you for considering us. If we sound like a good match, we'd love to meet you!

Celebrating Taz is still alive after bungee jumping

Taz is extremely generous and warmhearted, is a naturally gifted athlete and excels at bringing people together to enjoy memorable conversation and wacky adventures.

Taz works as an employment counsellor and is a dedicated volunteer for many festivals and events. He is a very reliable source about fun local activities!

TAZ

A Phillipines delicacy!

Sarah works as a manager in the provincial government, and is passionate about making the world a better place (and yes, she knows how corny that sounds!).

Sarah is an excellent storyteller, cook and salsa dancer, and is learning how to make pottery. She grew up on a farm in Ontario and appreciates the experiences she had growing up in a small community.

Enjoying the scenery...
