

About us

KRISTY & BRIAN

Kristy and Brian live in a beautiful seaside community with lots of parks and trails nearby. We met while Brian was living on a sailboat. We now live in our small character home that was built in 1911. We tend a wild vegetable garden and host a free little library. We rescued a cuddly mixed terrier dog named Darya and we feel our modest home is ideal for a new wee member!

Brian

BRIAN

Brian is a down-to-earth and peaceful soul. He grew up in a camping, rafting, skiing and canoeing family between Utah and Banff. His family gathers in the USA at least twice a year—for Christmas and an annual family whitewater rafting trip—where three generations enjoy their time together. He thrives on hands-on building projects and is proud to share his tomato and pepper crops!

Kristy

KRISTY

Kristy is a kind, compassionate and caring person. She is a family doctor who wears a tutu to work to improve moral during a global pandemic! She trained in Indigenous health, does street outreach and enjoys team-building. She loves riding her bike, teaching mindfulness, and swimming. She can't wait to rediscover the natural world with her kiddo, just as her biologist dad oriented her to nature when she was young!

ON OPENNESS

Kristy and Brian share common values of respect and humility towards others. We are committed to being loving adoptive parents and welcome an opportunity to develop a relationship with you and perhaps your loved ones. Thank you for being open to us as well, as potential adoptive parents.

OUR FUTURE FAMILY

Kristy has always valued adoption as a way to create a family and together, we are now excited and ready to start. We will both support our child in discovering our beautiful world, as well as foster safe attachment and security. We hope to share our values of honesty, the importance of community and respect for others and nature. Brian has always been a loving uncle and now is looking forward to being an active stay-at-home father.
